Subject: Engagement Wrap-Up: Enabling System Flexibility

On Friday, April 20, the IESO hosted a webinar to officially conclude the work of the Enabling System Flexibility engagement. During the webinar, the IESO provided an overview of the changes made and recent milestones achieved as part of this interactive engagement. Ultimately, the incorporation of 30-minute OR as a mechanism of improving flexibility of Ontario's electricity system was an outcome of this engagement. Additionally, the discussions along the way highlighted the need for potential engagements in the future which if required will be announced as they evolve and materialize.

For more information on the Enabling System Flexibility engagement and the detailed activity of this work, please visit the webpage here. This webpage will be moved into the "Completed Engagements" section of the page shortly.

Again, the IESO would like to thank you for your active participation and involvement. For any questions, please direct them to engagement@ieso.ca

Kind Regards, Jason Grbavac
