

Christian Weeks

Christian Weeks is Vice President and General Manager for EnerNOC's global Demand Response business. He has over a decade of experience in energy and technology businesses and is passionate about disruptive technologies and scalable growth. Since joining EnerNOC in 2009, Christian has held various roles in strategy, sales, and operations. Most recently, Christian led EnerNOC's software and demand response businesses in Australia and New Zealand. Prior to joining EnerNOC, Christian worked in Deloitte Consulting's Strategy & Operations practice based in Washington, DC. Christian graduated from Dartmouth College with a BA in Government, and received an MBA from the Harvard Business School.