Subject: SE-Adequacy Reporting Update

Schema and Sample Files Available

The schema and sample files for the new Transmission Limits reports being rolled out as part of the Adequacy Reporting initiative are now available on the following webpage: <http://www.ieso.ca/Pages/Participate/Change-Management/Report-Listing.aspx>

These files will provide market participants with an understanding of the report structures and assist them with any tools they intend to develop in order to retrieve information from the reports.

The IESO expects to be publish the schema and sample files for the new Adequacy and Zonal Demand Forecast reports at the end of March 2016. Go Live for all the reports is scheduled for late June 2016.

Next Webinar

The next webinar will be scheduled in March 2016. The IESO will provide stakeholders with proposed updates to the market manuals and training materials to support market trials and Go Live implementation. Exact date and times for the webinar will be provided by mid-February 2016.

Thank you - IESO Stakeholder Engagement
