Re: SE-109 Outage Management Process Redesign – Notification of Quarterly Advance Approval Process Changes

OPG is extremely concerned with the proposed change to the Quarterly Advance Approval timeline and process, as well as the timing of its release – two weeks before planned Technical Panel discussion. This change is contrary to the Outage Management Redesign process that was discussed and agreed upon through the Stakeholder Engagement process over the past two years. As it significantly reduces the amount of time between the release of updated security & adequacy information and the next quarterly process, OPG believes this change requires proper discussion and consideration through a Stakeholder meeting before advancing to Technical Panel.
