Subject: Next Resource Adequacy Engagement Meeting

Good morning,

You may have noticed that the Resource Adequacy engagement is absent from the February 2021 engagement days agenda that was posted yesterday. The IESO chose to forego an engagement meeting in February to allow time for stakeholder feedback on the January 26 webinar materials to be reviewed and considered before further details are brought forward to stakeholders. The next Resource Adequacy meeting is expected to be scheduled for the March 22-24 engagement days when the IESO will bring forward further details on operationalizing the Resource Adequacy framework and enhancements to the Capacity Auction. The IESO looks forward to reviewing stakeholder feedback on the January 26 webinar materials, which is due by February 17.

At the February engagement days, the IESO will present analysis on the results of the December 2020 Capacity Auction, followed by a discussion with stakeholders who participated in any aspect of the auction focused on gathering participant insights and potential improvements to the auction based on lessons learned. Email engagement@ieso.ca to register for this webinar and click here to view the full agenda for the February engagement days.

Best regards,

Dale Fitzgerald
